AROMA

MÜLLER. MADE IN GERMANY.

FOR PARTICULARLY AROMATIC DISTILLATES
Our MÜLLER Pot Still model AROMA. Custom-designs for units with fill quantities between 100 - 2,000 liters. Using the most advanced rectification plates and a distinct enhanced level of efficiency. For particularly aromatic distillates.

The Aroma distillation unit is hand manufactured using the most premium components, such as our optimized column trays, as well as the hand-hammered pot still with the aroma hat for which MÜLLER is famously known. Column technology that is scalable to the individual needs of the distiller and optionally combinable with our patented AROMAT.

The newly developed design, the so called reverse rectification plates, increase the contact surface between the phlegm and alcohol vapour flow to the size of the column diameter. With this new technology, the speed of the vapour inside the column is reduced by up to 60%. Through the additional time that is won for the alcohol vapour to meet the copper surface and phlegm, particularly complex and aromatic distillates are generated.

The special design of the Reverse Rectification Column also offers optimal cleaning results and full discharge at the end of the distilling cycle.

CAPOVILLA

Italy, Bassano del Grappa

With the unparalleled top quality of his products, Vittorio Capovilla has become the undisputed number one among Italian distillers and he is also known far beyond the country's borders. In 2018, he received the "World Spirits Award for his life's work. Together with his daughter Olivia and his grandson Alvise, this family business operates an organic farm alongside the distillery. The signature of their distillate products is the wax seal with handwritten labels and all products are also only available in limited quantities. With his distillates, Capovilla extracts the pure essence of his homegrown organic fruits and of course his grappas. Vittorio has been our friend, partner and contact for our Italian customers for many years. The GRAPPA distillation unit model was developed in collaboration with Vittorio Capovilla. With whom could we have developed this product better than with the „Grappa God“ of Italy?

The distillery is located at the foot of the Monte Grappa in the small town of Rosa. If you follow the scent of the blossoming mountain peach trees, you will reach Villa Dolfin, where Capovilla has set up his distillery. As Müller's first international customer, Vittorio has relied on the quality of Müller pot stills right from the start and today, in addition to his pot still in Italy, he founded distilleries for his rum production on Guadeloupe and Haiti.

FEINBRAND MANUFAKTUR - ROSE VALLEY

Germany, Striegistal in Saxony

Eric has been running his distillery near Dresden since 2016. Right from the start, he has dedicated himself to his passion of whisky. For maximum distilling flexibility it was clear that he would have to get a closed pot still system. Eric is doing a double distillation with a lot of patience and time to capture all flavors in his final products. He is using his Müller AROMA 170 liter pot still with a dephlegmator and a large Aroma-helmet. The special feature: His pot still is additionally equipped with a botanical basket for his gins. His corporate philosophy as a distiller is "pure nature", which means all products are made without artificial flavors and additives. Intensely aromatic fruit brandies of pear, apple and cherry as well as spirits of hazelnut and raspberry can also be found in Eric's product line.

Anyone who is interested in distilling their own products can also have their fruit or gin creation distilled in the contract-distillery.

“ We chose a Mueller still because we love how their values are very much inline with ours. As a family-sized business like ourselves, we see how dedicated they are in crafting quality stills and refuse to compromise artisanship for profits or short-cuts. Their emphasis on the importance of craftsmanship and the “hands on” approach – as seen through Mueller’s hand-hammering processes, their helpful advice every step of the way and the incredible overseas / onsite support they provide is something that we will always treasure and we can’t be more proud to own such a beautiful still!“
