GRAPPA

MÜLLER. MADE IN GERMANY.

In collaboration with the Italian god of grappa, Vittorio Capovilla, our model MÜLLER Grappa is specifically designed for grappa distillers.

The model MÜLLER Grappa operates non-conventionally and with no or only very little addition of water to the pot still. Because thermal ballast is not used, this “dry method” conserves water, time and energy costs. This distillation unit which was designed and engineered with Vittorio Capovilla is perfected for distilling Grappa. It is also just as useful for making fine spirits and for distilling fruits.

CAPOVILLA

Italy, Bassano del Grappa

With the unparalleled top quality of his products, Vittorio Capovilla has become the undisputed number one among Italian distillers and he is also known far beyond the country's borders. In 2018, he received the "World Spirits Award for his life's work. Together with his daughter Olivia and his grandson Alvise, this family business operates an organic farm alongside the distillery. The signature of their distillate products is the wax seal with handwritten labels and all products are also only available in limited quantities. With his distillates, Capovilla extracts the pure essence of his homegrown organic fruits and of course his grappas. Vittorio has been our friend, partner and contact for our Italian customers for many years. The GRAPPA distillation unit model was developed in collaboration with Vittorio Capovilla. With whom could we have developed this product better than with the „Grappa God“ of Italy?

The distillery is located at the foot of the Monte Grappa in the small town of Rosa. If you follow the scent of the blossoming mountain peach trees, you will reach Villa Dolfin, where Capovilla has set up his distillery. As Müller's first international customer, Vittorio has relied on the quality of Müller pot stills right from the start and today, in addition to his pot still in Italy, he founded distilleries for his rum production on Guadeloupe and Haiti.
